

Training Up

May 16-17, 2015

A leadership summit for grassroots groups working to foster diversity in technology

Who We Are

All over the world, grassroots groups are trying to fix the tech sector's diversity problem. Whether they focus on women, racial minorities, the elderly, LGBT individuals, or people with disabilities, their goal is to foster diversity in tech.

The Summit

This meeting on May 24-25, 2015, will give representatives of these groups a chance to share ideas and make connections through lightning talks, demonstration lessons, and tutorials on non-profit governance and fundraising.

We need your help to make this happen.
Your sponsorship will be used to cover travel costs for participants, and to pay for the meeting venue.

Sponsorship Levels

$10,000+

- Recognition in all announcements and materials
- Acknowledgment in social media
- Invitation to speak during the Summit

$5,000+

- Recognition in all announcements and materials
- Acknowledgment in social media
- Invitation to attend the Summit

$2,500+

- Recognition in all announcements and materials
- Acknowledgment in social media

$500+

- Acknowledgment in social media

We are grateful to Laura and John Arnold and to the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation for their generous support.

If you have another idea for help with travel, media, lodging, or anything else, please email summit2015@training-up.org.